PRESIDENT'S WIFE DIES AT 5 O'CLOCK IN WHITE HOUSE

President and Her Daughters at Bedside When Peaceful End Comes

ASKS CARE OF HER HUSBAND

One of Last Desires is That Dr. Grayson Take Care of Mr. Wilson

HAS NO FEAR IN HER LAST HOUR

Physicians in Attendance Praise Bravery in Death of the First Lady of Land

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States died at the White House yesterday at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Wilson was the second wife of a president to die in the executive mansion, the first being Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, the first wife of the late President Harrison.

Mrs. Wilson's death was peaceful. The president held her hand as she passed away. Her three daughters, Mrs. Frances Bowes Sayre, Mrs. William McAdoo and Miss Margaret Wilson knelt at her bedside.

She had been unconscious for about three hours before the end. At about 2 o'clock she roused herself and smiled faintly at her dear ones. She was too weak to speak to them. Those at the bedside, not relatives, were the six consulting physicians and the nurses from the naval hospital.

Realizes End is Near
About the middle of the forenoon Mrs. Wilson stirred and called for Dr. Grayson.

"Doctor," she said faintly, "I am going away. I want you to promise me to take care of Woodrow."

And Dr. Grayson promised her faithfully that he would.

Ample hands today raised the pall of grief from the White house. The American people, poor and rich, lowly and proud, in the death of Mrs. Ellen Wilson, wife of the president, made the chief executive's mourning their own.

Flood of Sympathy
In the flood-tide of sympathy which engulfed the White house today came spontaneous messages from hundreds of humble homes. With telegrams of condolence from crowned heads of Europe the cabinet and officialdom, were received flowers and messages of sympathy from slums and alleys of the capital, where Mrs. Wilson had made many friends in her efforts to aid the poverty stricken and friendless.

The president and his three daughters bore up well today under their bereavement. In the white house, denying themselves to visitors, they were alone with their dead. Cares of armed conflict abroad were largely forgotten. The hush of death placed a seal of silence on the former home of the "first lady of the land."

Flags at half mast and closed cases mutely testified to the loss of the wife and mother of the chief executive and his family.

Asks Simple Funeral
Final arrangements for the simple, unostentatious funeral desired by Mrs. Wilson were made. It was hoped that Professor Stockton Axson of Princeton university, her brother, who is speeding from Oregon, could arrive in time, until he was telegraphed last night at Pendleton, Ore. Mrs. Ernest Howe, a sister, is in Paris unable to attend.

Relatives of both Mrs. Wilson and the president arrived today, as well as some close Princeton friends.

Both Houses Adjourn

The senate and house immediately adjourned. A resolution was put through the house which provided for the appointment of a house committee consisting of the speaker and one member from each state in the union to represent the house at the funeral. The announcement was made in the senate by Majority Leader Kern.

The president and his daughters withdrew to the private apartments of the mansion after the death. All were prostrated with grief and their long vigil at the bedside of the wife and mother. The president bore up bravely and tried manfully to comfort his weeping daughters.

The sad news quickly spread through Washington and flags were run up at half mast. A mass of condolences poured into the White house. Official and resident society hastened to leave cards of sympathy.

La Crosse Lawyer, Back from Visit in New England Says They are Copying Badger Plan

ROADS RAISING STATE TAXES

Highway Movement Costs Money there, But People Are Not Complaining

COMMISSIONS JUST AS NUMEROUS

Massachusetts Leads All States for Boards—Our Legislature Pattern for New England

That the "Wisconsin Idea" is being copied in the east and commissions are as numerous there as here, were some of the comments of John E. McConnell, candidate for assembly, who returned yesterday from an extended visit there with his family.

Mr. McConnell said that it would be well worth the while of those dissatisfied with the railroad commission of Wisconsin, to visit New England and see the miserable service, pay the exorbitant rates and witness the utter disregard of the traveling public's convenience exhibited by the famous New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Mr. McConnell said: "New England is a delightful vacation country and abounds in places of historical and literary interest. The more one sees of rural New England, however, the more he appreciates the conditions which made agriculture in competition with the Mississippi valley practically impossible, and produced the 'abandoned farms' of which one hears so much."

In recent years the introduction of scientific methods of farming and gardening originated or developed in Wisconsin and other western states has improved conditions materially and the old farms are coming into use again; though it is still true of many sections that there are not as many farms or farmers as there were seventy-five years ago. The visitor from the west who has learned to consider New England as thickly populated is constantly surprised at the amount of uncultivated wilderness which he encounters as soon as he gets outside the cities and off the beaten track.

Have Road Problem

"I spent more time in Connecticut than in any other state and was interested to see that the citizens of that state are wrestling with some of the problems that have caused some political excitement in Wisconsin. Connecticut has been at work on the road problem, and apparently hit upon substantially the same plan of contribution to the road fund by town, county and state that our legislators did. There, as here, a system of state roads has been under construction, the town contributing one third the expense and the county and state each putting in a similar amount. The expense has necessarily been considerable, as it has with us, and taxes are rather high; there seems to be some complaint but the general opinion seems to favor the roads."

"The chief criticism of the people of Connecticut make arises from the fact that a large part of the state's share of the expense has been raised by borrowing money instead of levying a tax and paying as the work progressed, as has been done here in Wisconsin."

Finances Bother All Parties

"The financial problems of modern state government, development and education do not seem to be peculiar to any one state or to the administrative policies of any one political party. The annual expenditures of Connecticut have trebled during the past ten years and its state debt has increased from about $200,000 to over $6,000,000. The state legislature is democratic in both branches, and the governor now and for several years past is Simeon E. Baldwin, a former chief justice of the state, a professor in Yale University, and a man universally admitted to be of the highest ability and character."

Commissions Numerous

"Commissions or boards for the transaction of public business seem to be about as numerous east as west; in fact, I believe there are more in Massachusetts than in any other state, though, as is the case in Wisconsin, most of them are composed of men and women working for the state without compensation, just as do our local school boards. New York and Connecticut have each just adopted workmen's compensation"

First Lady of The Land Who Died Yesterday Afternoon and President

LET LA CROSSE HALT TO PAY RESPECTS TO THE PRESIDENT IN HIS GRIEF

A great grief has come to Woodrow Wilson, our beloved president. The nation, bereaved of the first lady of the land, joins him in his heavy sorrow. It is fitting that we, as citizens, give expression to the regret and sympathy that are in our hearts.

The Tribune respectfully suggests that as a mark of sorrow and respect, the business of the city of La Crosse be halted for five minutes during the funeral of Mrs. Wilson, Monday afternoon.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

England—War fleet reported in battle in North sea; admiralty admits the German fleet has been driven towards Helgoland; arrangements made for sending army to Belgium; cruiser Amphion sunk by mine.

France—Invasion of Germany begun; Lorraine towns of Moyenvic and Vic occupied; general fighting reported along frontier. Belgium—German attack on Liege resolved itself into artillery duel with Germans using heavy caliber siege guns and attacking columns withdrawn under cover to prepare for another general assault. German losses enormous; Belgians using mines in defense of city.

Germany—Practically no news coming from German centers; kaiser exhorted nation to ally against enemies.

Russia—Fighting in progress in Poland; Russians not making concerted defense of that section, but devoting all efforts to completion of mobilization.

Italy—Maintaining strictest neutrality; forced German cruisers to sail from Messina although British squadron was outside waiting for them.

Austria—Rushing troops to guard Russian frontier; withdrawals have enabled Serbians to gain advantage.

Servia—Shelling of Belgrade continues; Austrians defeated in fight.

BERLIN CABLE DECLARES KAISER HAS EXECUTED 100 SOCIALIST DEPUTIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—A Berlin cable received by the correspondent here of La Prensa of Buenos Ayres, the biggest newspaper in South America, states:

"By order of the emperor, 100 socialist deputies have been shot in Berlin, among them the socialist leader, Herr Liebknecht."

There is no confirmation of the report from other sources.

The New York Call, commenting on the dispatch today, says: "It is believed that the charge of treason may have been laid against the entire socialist delegation in the reichstag for some action by the German socialists, knowledge of which has not been permitted to get out of the kaiser's closely guarded domain. The socialists' delegation numbered 111."

BELGIANS DRAW LARGE BODY OF GERMAN INTO AMBUSH TO SLAUGHTER

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7.—Early today the Belgians slaughtered another large force of Germans at Liege. The defenders of the town made a show of evacuating the outer fortifications. The Germans accepted the retirement as genuine and a large force pressed forward. Immediately they entered the circle of the fortifications, however, the Belgians, whose maneuver had been an artifice, poured a deadly artillery fire on the invaders. Caught in a trap the Germans fought fiercely but almost the entire force was annihilated. The Belgians captured 27 field pieces in the rout of the Germans. The invading force lost the temporary advantage of position they had gained in two days' fighting.

BRITISH SEA VICTORY DECISIVE

Hourly Expected Fight Will Mean Beginning of End of the War is Attitude

READY TO SEND TROOPS ACROSS

Plans Thought Completed for Landing Expeditionary Force in Belgium Shortly

By ED L. KEEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Germany is already "paying the price that staggers humanity." British military experts admit that they are astounded over the terrible slaughter of the Germans attacking Liege. They declare it indicates that the kaiser's "men of iron" will be unable to penetrate the French frontier, and that he will be on the defensive almost from the outset of the war. A British naval victory at this time, the high officials here say, will mark the beginning of the end of the war—and one is looked for soon.

Although Lord of the Admiralty Churchill denies that the government has any official news of any real fighting at sea up to the present time, there is little doubt that the fleet scouts are keeping up their running fight begun yesterday.

The German warships are now on the eastern side of the north sea and Admiral Callaghan is harassing them.

That the kaiser fears that his forces will be crushed was the construction placed here upon his proclamation to the German people.

In the emperor attributes the war to jealousy of the powers over Germany's commercial strength and announced that Germany was ready to "fight the world."

The British fleet continues its work of clearing the seas of German shipping, and from every British port comes word of the arrival of German prizes.

Strict censorship is being enforced and all information regarding war plans is refused. Despite this, it is believed the plans for rushing English troops to the aid of the Belgians have been completed. Big liners have been requisitioned and will be used for rushing the troops across to Belgium ports, but no announcement of their going will be made.

Austria Notifies Berlin She Will Guard Frontier Against North-erners

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—Austria yesterday declared war on Russia, and sent word to Berlin that her troops will take up the task of guarding the Russian frontier.

With the declaration of war by Emperor Franz Joseph, followed by the immediate announcement of a similar declaration against Austria by the czar, Kaiser Wilhelm may direct all of his attention to the Belgian and French campaigns for at least the next two weeks.

Russian mobilization is progressing slowly, according to advices received here. The Austrian war office is confident that with the withdrawal of only a small portion of the forces attacking Serbia the Russian advance can be checked. The German border patrols have made raids into Russian territory, burning villages, but no general engagements have occurred. A division of Russian cavalry endeavored to break over the frontier east of Johannesburg yesterday, it was learned here today, but was repulsed.

Orders are expected to be immediately issued permitting German and Austrian troops to operate in the territory of the allied countries.

MANILA, Aug. 7.—Reports received here declare that German and British vessels are engaged off the Chinese coast.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—A private dispatch to Logan & Bryan, leading Chicago grain house, today from Portland, Oregon, says that Japan's probable entrance into the European war is indicated by the fact that it is known in grain circles that Japanese representatives have quietly been buying up all the available grain in sight, particularly wheat, and paying good prices for it.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 7.—Denmark has called six classes of soldiers to the colors. It is announced that the strictest neutrality will be enforced.

SUFFERED HEAVILY LAST NIGHT

German Attackers Repulsed and Battalion Decimated When Mine is Sprung Under Them

(By United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7.—Germany has already lost 25,000 men in killed and wounded at Liege. The Belgian defense is unweakened and the forts untaken. Germany has asked for a twenty-four hour armistice to bury her dead. This is the startling news sent to King Albert by the Belgian commander tonight and made public at the war office. So great is the German loss that the army board here does not believe there will be another general assault until the German artillery has made a hole in the fortifications or Belgium voluntarily abandons them to fall back upon the second line of defenses at Namur. The German dead include some of the best fighting units in the kaiser's army.

Not less than three entire regiments of the Uhlans, the finest cavalry in the world, have been completely destroyed. Two crack regiments of the Tenth army corps were practically blown to pieces when mines planted under the roadway leading to the forts were detonated. One Zepelin was shot to pieces.

Three times last night the German hosts were hurled against the Belgian defenders. Massed in close formation, the German infantry charged across the open country in a vain attempt to carry the fortifications by storm. Their wonderful courage was useless and they were finally driven back, torn and shattered.

Rapid Fire Guns Deadly

The Belgian rapid fire guns, trained so that they swept every foot of the territory over which the Germans advanced, were served with precision by the Belgians. The rain of lead was continuous.

The German close order tactics made the slaughter possible. Massed closely together, the German columns were wiped out by entire squads. After the third assault the German army withdrew and the artillery duel was renewed.

For a time, this morning, the Germans remained at their base, under cover of their artillery, waiting. Finally, when the siege guns had demolished many of the buildings at Liege, another assault in force was attempted. Like others it failed and the Germans were again driven back completely crushed.

Hear Moans of Wounded

There were thousands of wounded lying in the open space between the forts and the army. The moans of the sufferers could be heard by the Belgians in the forts, as well as by their own comrades on the German positions. But nothing could be done for them while the artillery fire was kept up. At last the German commanding general, realizing that the sight of the dead and wounded must have a depressing effect on his forces, got into touch with the Belgian commander. He asked for a twenty-four hour armistice. He wanted to gather his wounded and bury his dead.

The request was sent to King Albert, who will decide whether it is to be granted. In this connection the king will be compelled to decide whether Germany will take advantage of this lull to get other reinforcements to the army before Liege. It was stated officially that the German officers who asked for the armistice made the admission that their dead and wounded totalled 25,000.

URGES WOMEN TO SAVE HARVESTS

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Premier Viviani, in an official proclamation today, asked the French women to save the harvest. The proclamation says:

"The wheat stands unreaped and the time of vintage approaches. I appeal to your hardihood and to that of your children, whose age alone, not their courage, withholds them from the fighting line. I ask you to maintain the lives of our fields, to finish this year's harvest and prepare for that of next year. You cannot render greater service to your country."

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Belgium's suddenly revealed capacity for skilled defensive tactics indicates that the Germans, in their passion for the science of warfare, have overlooked the human element in battles. The disarrangement of Germany's campaign for moving through Belgium is due to the fact that on paper Belgium is a negligible military quantity. But, as the Boers and the American colonists and many other people have proven, the human element is capable of reversing the most exact scientific predictions.

Germany did not allow for the human element when a twelve hour ultimatum was sent to the czar; nor did it enter into Germany's reckoning when Italy was invited to stand by Austria, Italy's ancient foe; nor was it present in the Berlin general staff's estimate of Belgium's military powers. The war, thus far, from the beginning of the Austro-Serbian crisis has shown that a nation may be over-scientific.

Absence of news of other German advances into France is due probably exclusively to the check in Belgium. At least two other columns should have made their presence known by this time, one emerging through Luxembourg and the other either by the Swiss border, or further north toward the Epinal Toul gap in the French Alsace-Lorraine defenses.

The purpose of the three simultaneous movements, as is believed to have been planned by the German general staff, is to keep France occupied with false advances, while the real concentrated advance strikes. What was to have been a gallop through Belgium has developed into a serious campaign of its own, and it is reasonable to suppose a general halt has been ordered until Berlin can find new bearings in Belgium. This must make known to the French general staff that the true German movement had been planned through Belgium.

Reports of a naval engagement between England and Germany in the North sea undoubtedly mean no more than skirmishes. The German navy being inferior to the British the rules of strategy demand that Germany shall keep her vessels together under cover, hoping England by some blunder may divide her own battle fleet. If German scouts get wind of this, the Kaiser's dreadnaughts may be expected to dart out and try to equalize matters by an overwhelming attack on inferior numbers. Of course British strategy requires that the Germans be enticed out by the false surmise that the British home fleets are isolating themselves.

CARRANZA BREAKS OFF NEGOTIATIONS WITH SUCCESSOR TO HUERTA

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—Preparations are being made to resist an attack by the constitutionalists upon Mexico City.

Provisional President Carranza was officially advised today that General Carranza had broken off negotiations with the envoys sent from the capital and refused to ratify the plan suggested by Carranza for the transfer of government. It was stated here that President Carranza has been urged by Washington to surrender to the constitutionalists on their own terms. In return, the Mexican government has asked whether the United States will guarantee life and property in the territory now held by the federalists if the constitutionalists are permitted to take control.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Club

Of the Golly Goos.

"I was an end man with tambourine."

"SOME of us boys want to organize a club, daddy," said Jack, "and we don't know yet just what to call it or what to do after we get it up."

"We girls have got a club," cried Evelyn eagerly, but Jack interrupted her.

"Yes, and you sew!" he cried. "We don't want any sewing club! We want to do something useful!"

Daddy laughed. "Well, Jack," he said, "I guess if mamma didn't put in so much time mending for you you'd wake up to the fact that sewing is pretty useful, after all. But I know just what you mean, so I'll tell you about the Golly Goo club."

"The what?" cried mamma and Evelyn together, but Jack said nothing. Being a boy, he was more used to funny sounding names.

"The Golly Goo club," repeated daddy. "It's a club I used to belong to when I was a boy. In fact, I helped organize it. Ernest Howe named it, and now he's making much money manufacturing airships."

"Well, Ernest and the rest of us organized our club. You could tell one of us as far as you could see us in the summers, for it was a rule of the club that the members should wear no hats, but instead a handkerchief tied under the chin and covering the head entirely, so that they looked like old fashioned nightcaps. When a couple of the members would meet they would grip each other's hands with the first and second fingers of each over the other boy's wrist. The first boy would say, 'Golly Goo?' and the other boy would answer, 'Golly Goo.' And this would show that they both belonged to the club."

"We wore paper badges with the name 'Golly Goo' printed on them, and the officers had their names printed on too. There was lots of politics going on all the while, for all the boys wanted to be officers so as to show their names on their badges. Jack knows how that is."

"We used to have parades up and down the street, and often, too, we had wars. Sometimes one side would whip and then the other. We used to keep prisoners, and the other side would try to rescue them, and then there would be a fight. But nobody ever got hurt very much."

"We used to pay five pins a week dues, and we got in a lot more pins through giving a show, the Golly Goo minstrels. Everybody on the street came. I was an end man with a tambourine, and I remember how badly I felt because I forgot my best joke."

"We had a treasurer, too, who took care of the pins, and we fixed it up with him to have him run away with all the pins—there was a boxful of them—and he went to where we played was Canada, and we went over and captured him and put him in prison for awhile."

ONE SIDE OF THE STORY

Yesterday The Tribune posted the following bulletin:

All war reports emanate from sources outside of Germany, and are English, French and Belgian versions. With the cables cut, Germany's story cannot be told, excepting by wireless, which in view of the necessity of relaying messages from ship to ship is impractical.

In considering reverses of the German army by inferior forces, it is important to understand that the German troops are invading fortified countries and their opponents are fighting from the cover of these fortifications.

The attention of readers is called to the fact that where partisanship appears in dispatches it is due to the bias of foreign news writers, and that American newspapers, having no
staff war correspondents at the front, are obliged to take what they get.

It is the purpose of the news columns of a newspaper to publish facts.
It is a rule of journalism, where that is possible, to print both sides of every story. In the present case, that is impossible. Readers must note the source of dispatches, and make due allowance for the natural bias of the nations, drawing their own conclusions.

For instance, the exuberance of the Belgian reporter whose story assumed that Belgium was proving more that a match for Germany should not mislead readers. It is evident that the German commander underestimated the strength of the Belgian fortifications, but the massing of heavy German artillery in front of the half-moon of fortresses, supported by the vast German army that can be brought to reinforce the 25,000 now engaged, will doubtless show a different phase of that situation. Unless French and English troops and artillery come to her assistance, Belgium cannot withstand the onslaught of a great military power like Germany.

Germany, as General Pickett said
through a famous chew of tobacco, may have "bitten off more than she can chew," but even in the face of the strong alliance arrayed against her she must not be regarded lightly. Her military subjection will be a fight, not a frolic.

AT THE PARTING OF THE WAYS

Colonel Roosevelt seems to be at the parting of the ways.
It's all due to the proximity of "other dear charmer," the G. O.
P.

The colonel's declaration in favor of fusion between the bull moose and republicans in New York has drawn from Mr. Bird and the other Empire State bull moose leaders a sharp rebuff.

The recent declarations of Beveridge of Indiana that nowhere should there be fusion, Murdock, of Kansas and Johnson, of California, to the same effect, are not in harmony with "T. R.'s" stand in New York.
Some other bull moose leader's assertion that "we did not leave the republican party to return to it" probably is near to the temper of the lieutenants.

After examining Colonel Roosevelt's speeches for some time back, the Madison State Journal makes the significant observation that the colonel has studiously avoided adverse criticism of the republican party. Can it be that, having led his army into the wilderness, he is preparing to leave it at Armageddon.
One wonders, should Roosevelt desert, whether Perkins would remain to rock the boat.

YES, WHY?

Referring to Governor McGovern's angry but ineffectual retort to Senator La Follette's charge that he (McGovern) is the sole person responsible for high state taxes, the Milwaukee Sentinel turns rather a neat trick on the governor by reminding him that in his address before the Milwaukee Civic Club last January he defended every dollar of the taxes. The Sentinel wants to know why, if the taxes were as just as he then declared them to be,
he now seeks to evade the responsibility. Instead, why not assume full responsibility for the taxes and claim the credit?

The paper might have asked further, why the governor did not act on Hon. Thomas Morris' petition for a special session to reduce the taxes, if they are too high; or, if they are not too high, why he is arbitrarily setting aside the law to defer them?

CUT RUSSIAN CABLE

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The cables connecting the Russian embassy here with St.
Petersburg ceased working this afternoon. While the cause was not yet definitely settled, it was believed that the Germans have succeeded in cutting the Russian-English cable.

CROWN PRINCE TO FRONT

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 7.—Official confirmation was received here today that the German Crown Prince had arrived at Verviers, Belgium, enroute to assume command of the army besieging Liege. This effectively disposes of the report circulated from London that he had been badly wounded by an assassin in Berlin.

"Two negatives are equal to an affirmative," quoted the Wise Guy.
"Yes; but with a woman even one no
may mean yes," added the Simple Mug.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

When the Corn is Green

When a feller eats corn on the cob
it's a mighty ticklish job.
His friends most all stand back in order to give him full swing.
It isn't wise to say a thing
Or make a funny crack.
He butters it all over first,
And then prepares to do his worst.
He grasps it firmly at each end.
He looks just like a kid, you see
Mouth-organ playing in high glee,
And he won't condescend
To say a word till it's done—
Until the entire race is run.
He turns it 'round and 'round
To keep the butter in its place
Upon the corn and on his face,
Instead of on the ground.
For when he stops he cannot stop.
He fears the lubricant may drop—
He must eat fast to win.
He gets it in his ears and hair,
And there is some despite his care,
That lingers on his chin.
His customary meal is ten;
The mission furniture is then
A sight that is forlorn.
When he can't keep it on his face
The cob slips 'round from place to place.
There ain't much ease. There ain't much grace
When a feller eats green corn.

Just the Other Way

Mrs. Benson tasted the savory morsel she had carefully compounded in the chafing dish and looked at her husband somewhat apprehensively. Then she said:
"Somehow, it doesn't taste just as Mrs. Mink's did the other night."
"I thought I remembered the recipe all right. I must have left out something."

Mr. Benson tasted reflectively.
"I don't think so," he remarked.
Mrs. Benson's face brightened visibly. Then her husband continued:
"There's nothing you could leave out," he said, "that would make it taste like this. It's something you've put in."

Jokes on the Types

Among the quaint scrapbooks of the late Clyde Fitch, all of which are now to be sold at auction, there was one devoted entirely to typographical errors.

One of these errors appeared in a criticism of Ellen Terry. The reviewer wrote: "Her love of Portia made acting easy." The sentence appeared in the paper as "Her love for port made acting easy."

The Versatile Keeper

Here is one that is told by Congressman Benjamin G. Humphreys, the other night in throwing the harpoon into a medical friend who was a fellow guest at a banquet.

Some time ago a keeper of a museum was engaged in placing some new curios that had just arrived from Egypt, when he noticed a perplexed look on the face of his attendant.

"What's the matter Smith?" he queried, going to the assistant. "Is there anything you don't understand?"

"Yes," answered Smith. "Here is a papyrus on which the characters are so badly traced that they are indecipherable. How shall I class it?"

"Let me see," returned the keeper, examining the curio. "Just call it a doctor's prescription in the time of the Pharaohs."

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake

One cup butter; 2 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoonful rose water; 3½ cups flour; 3 level teaspoon-fuls K C Baking Powder; whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

NOTE—The cake is a large one and sells at Women's Exchanges for $1.50.

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake

Three cups granulated sugar; 1 cup boiling water; whites of 3 eggs; 1 cup chopped walnuts; 1 cup chopped nut-meats; 5 eggs cut in thin slices.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

The K C Cook's Book contains ninety just such delicious recipes—bread, muffins, cakes and pastry. You can secure a copy free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Ladies' Home Co., Chicago. Small cans do not contain Cook's

A Good Shouter

Harry Lauder tells a story about Rab McBeth, a friend of his, who went up to Glasgow once to see a brother off to America. They said
"goodbye" on board, and then Rab went ashore, and as the great ship slowly drifted away from the quay Rab continued to shout his parting words of advice and encouragement to his brother standing on the deck.

"Goodbye, Wull!"
"Buck up, Wull!"
"See an' behave yersef!"
Every time he shouted the ship was a little farther away, and Rab accordingly kept raising his voice more and more. The other people who were shouting goodbyes were dumfounded, and their voices were hopelessly drowned in the roar of Rab's voice.

When the ship was about half a mile away Rab let himself go with a final tremendous shout.

"Mind and write name, Wull!"
A man standing near went up and touched Rab's arm.

"If Wull doesn't write when he gets to America," he suggested,
"you should just shout across to remind him."

Landed in Bed

"May I ask you a question dad?"
asked little Pat.

"Well, what is it?"

"Well, if the end of the world was to come and it was destroyed when a man was up in an aeroplane, where would he land when he came down?"

"Go to bed at once, sir!" shouted his dad.

Prepared potatoes

"You know, madam," said the seedsman, "you don't have to plant your potatoes whole; you can cut them up in small pieces."

"Yes, I know," said Mrs. New-wife, "that might do very well if they always wanted to raise potatoes for lyonnaise or for mashing, but we should probably desire to have potatoes served whole now and then."

A Slam at Joshua

"Women must consider it a dreadful fate to be an old maid," mustd
Mr. Chugwater.

"They do, Joshua," said Mrs.
Chugwater. "What terrible sticks they sometimes have to marry to escape it."

And Joshua rubbed his chin and said nothing.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

MOLLY'S DECISION

BY LOUISE OLIVER

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure
Newspaper Syndicate.

"I won't marry him!"
"You'll have to."

"No, I don't—just because a stupid old will says so."

"Then you'll lose the money."

"I don't care about the money," declared Molly. "It's nothing in the world beside—love."

"But you haven't seen him," he protested doggedly. "You don't even know his name. You may change your mind when the lawyers open the sealed letter that was enclosed with your uncle's will and find that the fortunate fellow is someone whom you know—and like."

"Never! Harley, won't you believe me? I love you."

"Don't you want me? You're acting awfully silly today," she pouted.
"What do you wish me to say? That I will do as the will says, and on my twenty-first birthday next week announce my intention of marrying this anonymous person just so I can have estates, a private yacht and a dozen automobiles."

He caught her to him as though he could never let her go. "Molly, darling, the thought of losing you is making me insane. I cannot sleep,
I cannot eat, for this dreadful bogie
that has come between us."

She patted his cheek tenderly. "It hasn't come, Harley! It's always been there. Why, you were the very one to tell me of it first! That was why you came—don't you remember? You came out there to Aunt Lainey and me in our little home in the hills—hunted up poor little me, whom Aunt Lainey had guarded like a dragon for sixteen years." She laughed demis-tically. "And I was fishing the day you came—sitting on a rock, watching the tops of the hills, and wondering what lay beyond."

"And while you were dreaming," he interrupted, "I arrived and nearly scared you to death."

"No wonder! I'd never seen a man in my life. I've told you that Aunt Lainey had even cut all the illustrations out of my school books. She taught me herself. However, there was a picture in the Bible she had never dared to touch, the twelve apostles with flowing robes and beards. I thought all men looked and dressed that way. No wonder you scared me."

He laughed. "And I've told you a million times since then, dearest, that I had never seen so beautiful a picture as you made." He glanced at the heavy coils of copper colored hair so becomingly arranged, that had hung in heavy braids the day he spoke of.
And the clear blue of her eyes had reflected the limpid depths of the lake.

He went over in his mind the events of that wonderful day, how Mr. Meager, the senior member of his law firm, had detailed him to take the trip to the mountain home of Miss Lainey and her niece and tell of the will the girl's uncle had left.

Later Molly had been sent to a fashionable school in his own city,
and they had met often at the home of the Meagers, who had been friends of Molly's uncle. It seemed that something more than chance arranged their meetings. They fell desperately in love with each other in spite of the fact that Molly was absolutely forbidden to marry anybody but the mysterious person named in the will—upon pain of forfeiting every penny of the fortune.

Suddenly he spoke. "Molly, you must not throw yourself away upon a poor fellow like me. I can't let you do it. You—you are too magnificent to be wasted on a penniless son-of-a-gun who hasn't a thing in the world to offer you but his heart and two willing hands."

"Hush!" she whispered. "That's all I want. There, you must run along now. It's late and I must pack. I go to Aunt Lainey's early in the morning, you know. Good-night
dear."

Molly found Miss Lainey, her friend and guardian, sick. "She is at the end of her string, Miss Molly," said the doctor. "A life of hard work has worn her out. She needs pamper-ing and coddling—about a year of it.
If she could travel when she's able to be around a bit it would put new life into her. Any place she wants to go, just needs petting more than anything else. Do you think I am pre-

he asked gently.

Molly's face had gone deathly white. She knew her aunt had almost no money. She herself had none, except what the estate allowed her for her schooling. That had stopped. Unless—next week was her birthday! It was for her to decide then what should be done with the millions of dollars in the will. Now her aunt who had befriended her, and had taken the place of her parents for years, was sick and in want! She shut her eyes, swaying slightly. In an instant her decision was made.

"She shall have anything she needs, doctor. She can travel for years if she likes. I'm going to take her away from here as soon as she is able to go."

The week, years long it seemed to Molly, dragged slowly by. She nursed her aunt, moving about her duties in almost deathlike silence. There was no way of hearing from Harley.
She was just as glad, for she had decided she could never see him again.
In four three, two days, tomorrow,
she would be the promised bride of another. She scarcely understood the arrangement, but the lawyers understood how it was. She had an idea that old Mr. Meager knew more of the contents of the will than he chose to tell.

The next day, her birthday, when Miss Lainey was sleeping, Molly stole down to her beloved lake—got to fish boat to dream as she used to with her eyes on top of the hills.

This was the fateful day! If they wanted her, they knew where she was. They could come to her for their answer.

A branch cracked near her and she turned. "Harley," she cried, holding out her arms, then suddenly dropped them to her sides. "Don't come any nearer! You must not kiss me. I—I've made up my mind to do as the will says," she said slowly with dry lips. "For Aunt Lainey's sake."

Harley held out an envelope. "All right, Molly girl! Don't worry about me. It is your duty to stand by Miss Lainey and do what you can for her.
Here is a note from Mr. Meager and inside you will find the name of your fiancee."

Molly took the letter with trembling fingers. Harley's words puzzled her, and his tone was almost flippant.

The note was one of congratula-tion. Enclosed was another envelope bearing a card. On the card was written:

"Mr. Harley Meredith!"
"My beloved!" he said kissing her.
"Mr. Meager knew it all the time.
Your uncle, Mr. Meager's best friend, left a blank space on the card for Mr.
Meager to fill in as he thought best.
Dearest Molly, are you happy?"

ANDY IS WARLIKE

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Evening Post has received the following cablegram from Andrew Carnegie,
who is in Scotland:

"Germany having declined Britain's proposed peace conference, and then having asked her to agree to her march through Belgium, Britar was bound to decline and declare that she would protect Belgium by land and sea."

Even if an up to date woman did look like the pictures in a fashion magazine, she probably wouldn't be satisfied.

NOTED CHORUS IS HERE FOR TONIGHT

Knights of Columbus Choral Club of St. Louis
Arrives for Concert

Breaking a jump between St. Louis and St. Paul, on the return from the latter city, the St. Louis council of Knights of Columbus Choral club will appear at the La Crosse theatre tonight. The singers are returning from the national convention of their order at St. Paul. The club is composed of business and professional men of St. Louis, and will afford music lovers of La Crosse a rare treat. They are noted all over the country. As their expenses are greatly less than usual, their admission price is reduced. The chorus arrived last night from St. Paul, coming in on two special cars over the Milwaukee road. This morning they sang at the St. Michael's orphanage, and were shown the impressive St. Rose chapel of Perpetual Adoration at the Franciscan convent.

This afternoon the visitors were taken about the city in automobiles.

How Cool is treated.

A locomotive equipped with a three inch pop safety valve on boiler will 200 pounds steam pressure will waste 146.7 pounds of steam and about twenty pounds of coal every minute during which it is blowing off. This means that from 7,000 to 20,000 pounds of coal are often wasted each month by a single locomotive. —New York Post.

Cool Food For Hot Days

Better health comes with less meat and greasy food during the warm weather.

By proper and pleasant food one can feel cooler than his over-fed neighbor.

Grape-Nuts

and Cream

—some fruit and a soft boiled egg, or two, is sufficient for the hot weather breakfast.

An ordinary portion of Grape-Nuts and cream contains nourishment to sustain one until the noonday meal; and being a partially pre-digested food, it does not over-tax the stomach and heat the system as do heavy, greasy foods.

These suggestions, if followed, should show that one can have a cool body, active brain and energy—even in hot weather.

BACON BURNS IN SMOKE ROOM FIRE

Fire in Farmers' Co-operative Packing Plant
Does Small Damage

Bacon to the value of $150 was consumed at a fire which broke out in the smoke room at the Farmer's Co-operative packing plant shortly after 12 o'clock last night. An alarm was responded to by fire companies No. 1 and No. 5. According to the night fireman at the plant a quantity of corn cobs placed in the smoke room fire ignited too rapidly. Neither the rooms nor the building was damaged.

For Bad Burns.

Don't thrust a burned foot or hand into cold water. It relieves for a moment, only to be followed by an increase of pain, peeling off of the cuticle, and very frequently by ulceration of the wound. Don't tie up in a dry cloth; all woven material is porous and admits air. Don't drag off the clothing. Don't rub or cut off the hanging skin. Your object when called upon to treat a burn is at once to exclude air. For this purpose nothing is better than oil of some sort. Paraffin is not a bad thing, or vaseline, or common olive oil, or lard and butter, if both be entirely without salt. —First Aid for Everyday Accidents.

LEAGUE LEADERS IN FIRST DEFEAT

The Champs, leaders of the Mid-west league of the Copeland park playgrounds, met their first defeat last night at the hands of the Japers, the score being 10 to 8. The Champs had the best of the game in the first half, but the Japers turned and took the game in the last few innings. The Pirates easily trimmed the Stars by a 19 to 6 score.

Territory of Franco-German War and Many Forts of Former Nation

France has prepared through many years for the present war with Germany, and more than a score of forts have been built along the eastern frontier, reaching all the way from the Mediterranean to the English Channel. Those persons who have figured that the Germans would march with a superior army through to Paris after crossing Belgium or the Duchy of Luxembourg, have not counted on this work of France. Many of these forts could not be taken without a long siege, and they must be taken before an invading army could go farther.

Some of them have been so arranged as to leave seeming gaps through which an army might pass. But this has been set down to the cunning of the French. They have left these gaps in valleys and other territory which would make it possible to attack an enemy from the flanks and rear. Thus the gaps, it is said by military authorities, are nothing but traps for an unwary enemy.

Of course, most of the forts have

TO TOW SHAMROCK TO AVOID GERMANS

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Because of the danger of the Shamrock IV being captured by German warships, the New York Yacht club today sent a wireless to the captain of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin to take her in tow and bring her to this port. Under the deed of gift of the America's cup the challenging yacht must proceed under her own sail. This was waived on the first and second Shamrocks but was to have been enforced on Shamrock IV. The Erin may now tow the latter to port and if, after the war, a yacht race is arranged, the Shamrock can participate without fear of disqualification.

MRS. D. WALLACE CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Clara Eva Wallace, wife of David Wallace, died last night at 12:20 at her home, 629 South Sixth street. Mrs. Wallace had been ill for years with a chronic disease.

Mrs. Wallace's maiden name was Clara Eva Williams. She was born in Hokah, Minn., January 25, 1865. She came to La Crosse soon afterwards with her parents, and had lived in La Crosse ever since. She was married January 1, 1887, to David Wallace.

Surviving her are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. H. Clay Evenson and Miss Hazel Wallace of La Crosse; two brothers, William and John of Tacoma, Wash.; and six sisters, Mrs. Charles Kellogg of Hokah, Minn., Mrs. George Castle of Minneapolis, Mrs. J. W. Ball of Chicago, Mrs. W. E. Lambkin of St. Louis, Mrs. C. D. Reese of Tacoma, and Mrs. Donald McKay of Seattle.

Services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Methodist church. The Rev. J. E. Watson of the West Avenue Methodist church will officiate. Burial will take place in the family lot in Oak Grove cemetery.

Back to the Land.

In New York certain persons who have purchased 1,000 acres of land in New Jersey, have formed the "American Agricultural association," to encourage and produce a "back to the land" movement. The 1,000 acres will be subdivided into five-acre parcels, on each of which will be built a house and a barn and on which a well will be bored. These little ready-made farms will then be sold practically at cost. Purchasers will be urged to enter truck and chicken farming to supply the New York market. Fine idea, isn't it? But does it take account of all the needs? That is, has it been demonstrated that the five-acre farm can in the majority of cases be made to pay? Or is the unit of land too small by 50 per cent? And does the farmer need some practical experience or can he just jump in and win right off the bat, so to say?

Sleep-Walkers.

Many years ago an archbishop of Bordeaux attested the case of a young ecclesiastic who was in the habit of getting up during the night in a state of somnambulism, and, taking pen, ink and paper, composing and writing his sermons. When he finished one page he would read and correct it. In order to ascertain whether the somnambulist made use of his eyes the archbishop held a piece of pasteboard under his chin to prevent his seeing the paper upon which he was writing, but he continued to write on without being in the least inconvenienced. It is related of Negretti, a sleep-walker, that he would sometimes carry a lighted candle, as if to give him light in his employment, but on a bottle being substituted he took it and carried it without apparently noticing the difference.

Safety First Pay Envelopes.

For safety ideas the pay envelope offers a medium that is not easily overlooked. Repeated suggestions to "be careful" insisted on from week to week in different words, can not fail in their mission of education. Realizing this, the United Gas Improvement company of Philadelphia, Pa., in line with its other endeavors toward accident prevention, prints rubber stamp safety suggestions on its pay envelopes. Among the admonitions given in this way are "Safety always," "Every effort toward safety helps," "Are you guarding the danger points?" "Carelessness is dangerous," "Safety preserves life and happiness," and "Safety first, last and all the time."

The Arrival of 100 Advance Fall Models in Women's SUITS

The styles—

Are perhaps the most becoming to all styles of figures as they have been in many seasons past.

The cape effect, for instance, are jaunty and smart looking, giving a girlish appearance to even the woman of stoutheaded build. Then too the longer jackets add to the improvement of the short ones of the past, some being shown as low as the knee.

The skirt that predominates at the present is the long Russian tunic effect in considerable more fullness than the ones just past. In many cases accordion plaited ones are shown. In all, everything leans toward a much fuller skirt for fall.

The colors and materials—

Are exquisite in their dark tones, such as Hunter green, olive green, dark purple, navy blue, new blue and black.

The materials most favored for early wear are gaberdines, poplins, both French and storm serge, and perhaps most of all broadcloth, which at the present seems to be favored considerably.

Prices are reasonable at $15.00, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00, and up to $67.50.

RELIEF CRUISER SAILS FROM U.S.

Tennessee Leaves New York With $8,000,000 Gold to Aid Stranded Americans

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Carrying sixteen tons of gold or nearly $8,000,000, the United States cruiser Tennessee sailed today on its mission of relief for the Americans trapped in the European war zone.

The gold, $2,750,000 of which was appropriated by congress, was packed in ninety kegs carried aboard the Tennessee lat yesterday. Of the $5,000,000 fund raised by New York bankers only $3,000,000 because the insurance men were reluctant to take risks on such vast amounts.

The Tennessee also carried vast sums furnished by individuals for relatives in Europe and a great quantity of supplies.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Upwards of 15,000 Americans are expected to sail for home within the next week or ten days. They continued to pour into London today from the continent. More than 2,000 have arrived within the last twentyfour hours and others are on the way.

It was estimated today that there are 7,500 Americans in London at the present time. All are suffering the greatest inconvenience, due to the loss of baggage and lack of funds, but their immediate needs have been cared for by the American Relief committee.

The liner Celtic was scheduled to sail today. Every cabin was taken and the steerage was packed. The Celtic will carry 2600 passengers.

FLEET TENDER BLOWS UP

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A report from the British consul general at Antwerp, says that the oil tanker Wilfredo, laden with fuel oil for the German fleet, struck a floating mine off Cuxhaven and was destroyed, nearly all of her crew being lost. CLAMMERS BUSY AS RIVER DROPS

With a drop of the Mississippi below the four foot stage, scores of La Crosse clammers are "getting busy." Clam fishers have been inactive all through the summer. With the exception of a few shells left on the banks when the river receded, none have been taken this year. With the work which the government steamer Curlew has been doing in neighboring waters in the past, it is thought clammers will reap a large harvest. The river now stands at 3.8.

Considerable fun is poked at women because of their willingness to talk, but is there any record of a man declining an invitation to make a speech?

Deny Big Battle
In the house of commons this afternoon, First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill denied that any general naval engagement had taken place between the German and British fleets.

Churchill discussed the loss of the cruiser Amphion through striking a floating mine. He said that mine laying as it is being practiced by the Germans is new in naval warfare and it might affect neutral shipping throughout the entire world. He said that the admiralty was carefully considering the question so raised.

In discussing the loss of the Amphion, Churchill said the losses to date as reported to the admiralty had been that warship and the German steamer Koenigin Luiz. He said: "On Wednesday a flotilla of destroyers found the Koenigin Luiz laying mines in the upper reaches of the channel. The destroyers pursued and sank her. About fifty of her crew, which numbered 150, were rescued by the destroyers."

"The Amphion continued to scout with the flotilla. While on her return voyage she struck a mine and was blown up with the loss of 131 men."

All day long anxious inquirers have deluged the naval headquarters with inquiries. No news is available and no bulletins have been posted, the government resting on its declaration that the channel and North sea have been cleared to English shipping.

Much Firing
From the coast cities as far north as the upper Scotch border reports of heavy firing at sea are arriving. This firing is said today to be stronger than yesterday, indicating that, while yesterday the fighting was confined to lightly armed vessels, the heavy craft were today taking part in it.

Not alone in the North sea but in the Mediterranean as well a naval battle is believed to be in progress. There the British squadron is reported to have engaged the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau as soon as they cleared the harbor of Messina. Cable reports are eagerly sought.

Steam Out to Battle
MESSINA, Italy, Aug. 7.—With their decks cleared for action and every gunner at his post the German battle cruiser Goeben and the cruiser Breslau steamed at full speed out of the harbor here today. As the vessels passed out to sea, the battle standards were flying.

It is known that the British Mediterranean fleet, which pursued the two war craft after they escaped from the French squadron, is cruising off the port and the Germans will have to fight.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Active steps looking to the maintenance of strict neutrality by the United States and its citizens in accordance with the proclamation of the president were taken today at a conference of the officials of the navy and treasury departments with Secretary McAdoo. They perfected plans, it is understood, for a rigid patrol and inspection of the entire American coast line.

BISHOP DECLARES EUROPEAN WAR IS ONE OF DYNASTIES

Schwebach Says Vast Majority of People in Countries Involved Would Vote for Peace

A SETBACK FOR CIVILIZATION

Says Entire Map of Europe Will be Changed and Results are too Horrible to Contemplate

AUDIENCE WITH POPE PIUS X

His Holiness in Better Health he Says, But Still Longs for Home Amid Canals of Venice

That the European war is one of dynasties and that the people, in sober judgment, would vote overwhelmingly against it, is the belief of the Rt. Rev. James Schwebach, bishop of the La Crosse diocese, who Wednesday night returned from a tour of Europe, during which he was permitted an audience with Pope Pius X in the Vatican at Rome.

"It is almost too horrible to believe that in these days of alleged civilization countries will plunge into a conflict which will drench the fertile farms of Germany, Belgium and Austria with blood, cost thousands of lives, change the entire map of Europe and set civilization back, perhaps a century," he said.

"If the public mind there were not inflamed by the blaring of trumpets the flying of colors and the shouts of a few for war, there is no doubt in my mind but that a majority, a vast majority, would register their votes for peace."

Church for Peace
In discussing the appeal of Pope Pius to Emperor Franz Joseph—that he refrain from staining his record of "forty years of peace" with blood—His Holiness was but carrying out the policy of the church to encourage concord.

Incidentally the bishop has received from the Pope exhortations that all Catholic churches pray for universal peace.

The bishop said that he believed the present dynastic warfare there is but paying the way for republican forms of government.

Bishop Schwebach and his party were in Vienna the day that Crown Prince Ferdinand and his consort were assassinated. He said that sentiment against the perpetrators of the deed was high but that during the remainder of his travels he heard no intimation of the impending declarations of war.

Pope's Health Good
Pope Pius, he said, he found in better health than he had enjoyed for some time. It was to him that the returning bishop paid a tribute.

"Pope Pius is a man of the people," he said. "He longs for his old home, sisters and brothers in Venice. Melancholia is his chief ailment and that is brought on by his confinement within the walls of the Vatican."

The bishop visited his old home in Luxembourg, Germany, Austria Hungary, England and other countries before his return.

Upon their arrival Wednesday night the bishop and other returning churchmen, were tendered a reception at the residence of Rev. Gerhard Sluyter.

Those present were: Rev. Gerhard Sluyter, Rev. Dr. Robert B. Condon, Rev. Killian G. Beyer, Rev. William White, Rev. Charles Youngblood, Rev. Lucien J. Kufel, Rev. Joseph Riesterer, Rev. W. Multerer and Rev. Philip A. Franke of La Crosse, Rev. Dr. Joseph Wolfgarten, Chicago; Rev. W. Daniels, Marathon City; Rev. M. Caspar, Lima, Wis.; Rev. John Kaiser, St. Mary's; Rev. P. J. PRESIDENT'S WIFE DIES AT 5 O'CLOCK IN WHITE HOUSE

An official statement after Mrs. Wilson's death. Dr. Cary Grayson, the president's physician, who had charge of the patient, was deeply affected by her passing and as soon as he could overcome his grief, gave some details of the death to the White House newspaper men.

Dr. Cary Grayson was unstinting in his praise of Mrs. Wilson's bravery and said that during her long and painful illness she bore herself unflinchingly. He said:

"I never saw a woman who suffered so keenly and endured it with such courage. Up to within an hour or two of her death she still was able to give faint smiles in recognition of members of her family, but was too weak to utter a word. She remained conscious all day until two o'clock when her voice failed her."

"I think that Mrs. Wilson first realized that she was to die yesterday morning when her daughters, Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre and Miss Margaret Wilson, were called home. From that time she accepted it as inevitable and went without a tear or tremor into the valley of death."

Solicitous for Others
"Even in her last hours she was always thinking of others. Her deep attachment to the president is best shown by the fact that although nearly agonized with pain, she would call me during the night and pledge me to keep it secret from the president so as not to worry him."

"The president went in to see her every morning about 8:15 and no matter how much suffering she had undergone during the night she always braced herself to give him a smile and to say a word or two that would cheer him. An ideal affection existed between them. She was always thinking of him. She was a wonderful woman."

Congress Deeply Stirred
Congress was stirred to the heart when it learned that during the early hours of the day Mrs. Wilson had spoken of the pending legislation to remedy the dreadful slum conditions in Washington, an object dear to her heart, and expressed a desire to have congress pass the bill as soon as possible.

Act On Her Dying Wish
Senate and house committees were called together. Each reported the bill favorably when Mrs. Wilson's dying wish was learned.

Word was then sent to the White House that the bill would soon be a law and the president told the news to Mrs. Wilson, cheering her immeasurably. Very quickly afterwards the senate passed the bill and soon the elimination of the Washington alleys will be a possibility as a living memorial to the gentle thoughtfulness of the first lady of the land.

Sinks Near Noon
Near noon hope was shattered by two terrible sinking spells from which she was rescued with difficulty by the use of stimulants. Shortly after noon the physicians in charge informed the president and his daughters that they could offer no hope.

In silence and with despairing hearts the little group of watchers drew around the sufferer as she lay in the spacious bed chamber of the presidential suite which commands a view of the Potomac and a noble vista of the Washington monument through the White House trees.

Recognizes Her Nurse
A pathetic incident occurred when Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the president's cousin, and a devoted nurse and attendant of Mrs. Wilson during her last illness, rose from her sick bed, where she has been prostrated for the past three days, and stole quietly in to bid Mrs. Wilson farewell. Her reward was a faint smile of recognition, just before she relapsed into the semi-conscious state that preceded death.

The physicians kept up the artificial stimulation and again and again the patient would rally slightly. She could not speak but the eloquent language of the eyes and the smile were still left to her. Shortly before her death the attending physicians drew aside and left the last sacred moments to the president and his daughters. An eye witness of the final scene described it as solemnly beautiful and peaceful, and while all were grief stricken, they bore up bravely for the sake of the peace and comfort of the dying wife and mother.

Passport Wise Buy
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The American tourist who was thoughtful enough to invest a dollar in a passport before going abroad this summer was a "wise" person. The paper enables him to establish American citizenship in the countries now involved in war and to move about with the freedom that those without passports cannot enjoy.

Deny Ill Treatment
BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The German foreign office has issued an official denial that any ill usage was suffered by the Dowager Empress Maria, or the Grand Duke Constantine. The Dowager empress was received with respect the statement declared that her train was sent through Denmark, directly before communication with Russia had been interrupted.

Too many of the matrimonial engagements are not of the serious variety.

War May Cut Out Gotham Winning
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—After looking through their cellars, cafe and hotel keepers figured today they now had in stock just about enough wine to last until the big splurge of New Year's eve. After that, if the war continues, New York will have to get along wineless. Those who drink German imported beer are the ones who are worrying, for the supply now on hand is barely enough for six weeks.

Industrial Casualties.
From a chart which was exhibited by a leading insurance company of America at an international exposition of safety and sanitation, it would follow that there are 25,000 fatal industrial accidents a year in the United States, and about 300,000 injuries. This inspires a writer on the new industrialism to say: "The mere possibility of being able to state in statistics the approximate number of our industrial casualties is a step in advance, for as late as 1909 it was impossible to estimate with any accuracy at all what was the toll we paid in crushed limbs and snuffed out lives. Now, at least, we know how vast is the problem to be solved, how much heedless suffering we inflict and how much we lose in dollars and cents because we have hitherto failed to realize the necessity of guarding men as well as machines."

Foodstuffs Rise in New York
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Prices of foodstuffs were rising by leaps and bounds in New York today. Meat was still going up and even fish has joined in the general advance. Cheap cuts of beef have advanced 13 to 15 cents a pound.

Lamb, selling at 16 cents until a few days ago, is now twenty. Canned meats have advanced five cents per dozen wholesale.

Dealers declare that an advance in the price of coffee may be looked for.

SOUTH AMERICA ASKS U. S. TRADE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—South American diplomats, the state department and the Pan-American union were appealed today by South American countries to come to the assistance of their business, which is being greatly crippled by the European war.

Appeals were sent today to the leading manufacturers, exporters, importers, and bankers from the Atlantic to the Pacific to give "every possible aid and attention to South American commerce in this unprecedented crisis."

Director General Barrett today pointed out that the European war would seriously affect South American commerce with Europe which amounted to $1,600,000,000 in 1913. Barrett sees in the present crisis "a great opportunity to build up a trade with South America."

BRITISH CAPTURES GERMAN VESSEL

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 7.—The British cruiser Glasgow has captured the steamer American, presumably laden with a cargo consigned to German ports.

The German steamer Polynesia, which arrived here today, reported having passed the German cruiser Panther off the coast of Brazil.

There are several steamers named American and the identity of the one reported captured had not yet been established.

The Panther was reported two days ago to have been sunk by French warships in the Mediterranean.

MARGARET ANGLIN AT THE MAJESTIC

La Crosse theater goers who have enjoyed the famous actress, Margaret Anglin, will be glad of the opportunity of seeing her in the "movies" as presented by the Majestic Theater Friday and Saturday. Miss Anglin presents interesting scenes from plays she has made famous.

CALL O'SHAUGHNESSY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge of the American embassy in Mexico City, was summoned from his vacation to the state department today. It was stated that O'Shaughnessy would assist in the department during the European war crisis, or until leaves of absence of a number of regular officials have expired. It is probable others will be summoned.

AMERICAN SHIP OFF FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The sailing of a steamer for Europe having become a real event, great crowds thronged the American line dock today to see the liner St. Paul steam out for Liverpool. Every cabin was taken. The liner carried more than 5,000 bags of mail, great quantities of money and all the freight possible. As the St. Paul flies the American flag she will not be exposed to the danger of capture.

Many of the St. Paul's passengers were making their second or third attempt to reach Europe. Colonel G. F. B. Cobbett of the British army, first sailed on the Kron Prinzessin Cecile and was landed back at Bar Harbor. Among other passengers was the Duchess of Marlborough, who has been with her mother, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, at Newport. Lady Granard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, arrived here only Wednesday on the Olympic, but realizing that her husband, a British army officer, might be called to his regiment, arranged to return immediately on the St. Paul.

People With Thin Blood

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually and stealthily that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anaemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected much more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of diseases caused by thin blood. With pure air and wholesome food these blood-making pills afford the correct treatment when the symptoms described are noticed. A former sufferer from anaemia says: "I was emaciated and did not have a particle of color. I had severe headaches, had no ambition and could just drag around." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly restored appetite, flesh and health. A full statement of this case with directions regarding diet will be found in the booklet, "Building Up the Blood," sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NEUTRALIZE NEW YORK

Where the Hippopotamus Lurks.

Herds of hippopotamuses are not found everywhere in central Africa. They stick to the swampy shores overgrown with the papyrus plant, which affords them cover by day when they come out to rest. At night they feed on land, sometimes walking long distances away from the lake or river in search of palatable herbs. The hippopotamus is a great eater. A cow hippopotamus stays with her calf until the young one gets strong enough to walk and swim.

Kronprinzessin Cecelie at Head of Her Regiment

The war fever has permeated the women of Germany as well as the men. Kronprinzessin Cecelie, who is an honorary colonel of a regiment in the German army is here shown at the head of her regiment marching through the streets of Berlin. The Kronprinzessin is one of the most popular women of Germany. In several rows the crown prince, her husband, has had with the Kaiser, she has stood with the man she loved. When she and the crown prince rode down Unter den Linden Saturday night after the declaration of war against Russia she was cheered to the echo.

German Treasure Ship Which Fled Back to America

For four days the Kronprinzessin Cecelie, the German treasure ship with more than $12,000,000 on board flew back towards the United States pursued by a French cruiser, it was thought. She had nearly reached the Irish coast after leaving New York, Thursday, July 30, when she got warning to turn. Her commander, Captain Charles Polack, placed her under forced draft, despite the fact that his coal was low. Time and again the passengers begged him to slow up in the fog and he seemed to heed them, but soon the vessel was going at greater speed than she ever made before.

The captain had just coal enough to take him to Bar Harbor, Me. Once in an American port he was safe. The passengers, among whom were many prominent Americans, were thrilled with their flight, and had little else to talk about.

The New

Studebaker

Automobiles

One-Profit Cars Because They Are Studebaker Manufactured Cars

Today—or tomorrow—go to the Studebaker store and see the new Studebaker models, FOUR and SIX.

Two types of each—five-passenger SIX and seven-passenger SIX; FOUR Touring Car and FOUR Roadster.

You will find them competing with cars that sell at prices $500 higher; and you will also find them showing higher quality throughout.

Studebaker prices are lower because these cars are completely manufactured in Studebaker plants, carry but one profit, and impose no middleman's tax on the buyers.

There is only one way by which Studebaker quality can be put into a "Four" or a "Six" to sell at Studebaker prices.

That is the Studebaker way, which means complete manufacturing and the elimination of the parts middlemen and their extra profit; not the assembled of semi-manufactured way.

Complete manufacturing, its economies and the excess value it puts into the cars represent the Studebaker ideal.

In the case of the Studebaker, millions of dollars are invested in plants, machinery and special equipment.

Our huge production and sales turn our investments into manufacturing economies—we can well afford equipment the cost of which must be prohibitive to any producer whose output is smaller than Studebaker.

For example, we maintain the largest and most completely equipped laboratories in the automobile industry, which not only work out the special formula for Studebaker steels, but test and analyze the steels to be certain they are up to specifications.

We maintain huge heat-treating plants for the heat-treatment of vital parts, like gears, axle shafts, front axles, etc.

We make our drop forgings in our own forge shops.

We cast and machine and build complete every Studebaker motor.

We make our springs in our own spring plant. We make our bodies and tops in our own body and top factories.

In short, we make a greater proportion of the parts for Studebaker cars than other producers make for their cars.

And being complete manufacturers, we can and do make the parts of Studebaker cars of better, stronger, longer-wearing materials; and put better value into the cars at a stated price.

Ride in the new Studebaker and you will see the result of Studebaker complete manufacturing.

If you are not expert enough to appreciate this value, ask the advice of some man who is expert.

He will tell you that the way the Studebaker sticks to the road is due to its perfect balance, and that, in turn, is due to scientific design—complete manufacturing.

But we do not want or ask you to consider Studebaker Cars solely on price.

If you ask why they are better—why they give and always have given thorough satisfaction—consider the aims, ideals and honesty of purpose behind them; the quality of Studebaker materials; the vast extent and intensiveness of Studebaker manufacturing methods; the excellence of their engineering design; and the fact that in each and every important or vital particular these cars welcome comparison with the highest priced.

He will tell you that the lack of vibration is due to perfect fit and alignment of parts—again the result of complete manufacturing. You will learn that heat-treating of parts makes them stronger and last longer.

And you know that light weight means economy of gasoline and oil and tires. Through motor refinements and up-to-date designing, these cars have power in excess of all requirements.

You will be delighted with the clean simplicity of the motors; their perfect accessibility; and you will see that you can care for a Studebaker with the least time and effort.

We would advise you to waste no time in seeing the new cars.

Delivery can be had at once of either model; and the best motoring season is before us.

When you shop around, keep your mental impressions of Studebaker value always before you for comparison; and remember that this value is the great result of Studebaker volume and Studebaker complete manufacturing.

Health Depends on Condition of Kidneys

You cannot obtain life insurance unless the doctor makes an examination to determine the health of the kidneys. Outside of the few questions he may ask, this is considered one of the vital points upon which your physical condition is determined. Yet many people think that because they passed this test successfully, months or even years ago, there is nothing the matter with their kidneys today. A similar test might prove them to be in a diseased condition. The cause of backache, headache, swelling of the extremities, dizziness, etc., may be directly traced to improper kidney action. Persons suffering from diseases caused by failure of the kidneys to perform their office should take Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy at once. It gives strength to the system by building up these organs, which are often considered the weakest in the body. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is an exceptional medicine and is worthy of your consideration. It is sold by all druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes. OLD CITIZEN DROPS
DEAD AT M'GREGOR

Daniel Claudy Expires Suddenly From Heart Failure on Wednesday Afternoon

M'GREGOR, Iowa, Aug. 7.—Daniel Claudy, who for many years has been a well known resident of McGregor, dropped dead Wednesday afternoon while standing in front of the H. Goddard grocery store talking with Mr. Goddard. He was carried into the store and from there to his home. Death is believed to have been due to heart trouble. Until recently Mr. Claudy had been for many years in the truck gardening business at McGregor. On account of ill health he sold his farm some time ago and bought a home in town, where he has since been living. He leaves a wife and six daughters, three of whom are married.

Garage Replaces Stable
A force of men has been at work at the Hotel Livery stable the past week tearing out stalls and partitions and getting the interior generally ready for the laying of the cement floor for the new garage. It is expected that the building will be ready for use as a garage in two or three weeks.

Many on Excursion
Three hundred and thirty-four from McGregor, 350 from Prairie du Chien and 178 from North McGregor, or, a total of 862 from the three towns, went on the excursion on the steamer Sidney Monday night. The moon was almost full and the night was ideal for the trip down river to Wyalusing and return. Despite the frequency of the excursions on the river this summer every one thus far has drawn a crowd.

Trip is Popular
The Sunday evening "around the island trip" on the new Freeman pleasure barge is becoming very popular. The barge accommodates about forty. It leaves the dock at 7 o'clock, goes to North McGregor, taking on passengers there and thence four miles up river around the islands and down the Prairie du Chien channel. The trip is about an hour and a half long and includes some of the most beautiful scenery on this part of the Mississippi.

Catch Many Fish
With the falling river unusual numbers of sunfish, perch and catfish have been caught in Horseshoe lake opposite town. Strings of fifty to a hundred fish have been brought into McGregor by local fishermen. It is probable that several thousand have been caught within the past month.

Run Down.

Tom—Of course the bride looks lovely, as brides always do. Nell—Yes, but the bridegroom doesn't look altogether fit; seems rather run down. Tom—Run down? Oh, yes, caught after a long chase.

But a mother-in-law can lay down the law to a lawyer.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Tardy Act of Justice.

Marriage between English actresses and men of a high social position began in the eighteenth century, if not earlier. There was Lavinia Fenton, the Polly Peachum of Gay's "Peggar's Opera," who became duchess of Bolton; there was Miss Farren, who married Lord Derby; also Miss Brunton became Lady Crayen not long before Lord Thurlow married Miss Bolton. Earliest of the list, though, comes the earl of Peterborough, who married Anastasia Robinson, the singer, and kept the marriage a secret until a few days before his death in St. James' palace, when he assembled his relatives and friends and publicly acknowledged the woman "to whom he owed the best and happiest hours of his life," a tardy act of justice that caused the lady to swoon away.

Almost every man is obsessed with the notion that he has a particularly brilliant light hidden under a bushel.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

All eyes are now on Stalling's Boston Braves.

They cut the Giants' lead down another game when they walloped the Pirates in a tough struggle. McGraw's men put them by but six and one-half games, where a month ago they led them by fifteen full struggles.

"Lefty" Tyler faltered for the first time but Crutcher and Strand went in and saved the game that was won by "Rabbit" Maranville's four base blow in the tenth inning.

The Cubs showed fight for the first time in their present series with McGraw's champions, hammering the mighty Matty for enough hits in the last two rounds to cop a 4 to 3 victory. Bert Humphreys baffled the Giants.

Indian Bluejacket, who jumped from the Giants to the Brook Feds, won his first game for the Ward clan, pitching shutout ball.

LIFTON ASKS TO BE RELEASED

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Sir Thomas Lifton announced last night that he had asked to be released from the obligation to race the Shamrock IV off Sandy Hook in September.

Sir Thomas said he would make good his challenge if the New York Yacht club insisted.

"But I cannot believe they will refuse my request," he added. "How can anybody expect me to race when every morning I must read of the slaughter of thousands of my countrymen."

Not the Same.

"The late Cy Warman, novelist and author of the immortal 'Sweet Marie,'" said a Chicago editor, "always insisted that poetry ought to follow the same rules as prose. He wouldn't stand for poetical inversions—the adjective after the noun, the object before the verb, and so forth. 'But what difference do these inversions make, Cy?' asked a reporter once. 'All the difference in the world,' Cy Warner answered. 'Did you never hear of the minister's wife whose son eloped from college? The old lady wasn't much displeased, though—after all, she said, her new daughter-in-law was, she understood, a model young girl. 'A model young girl' thundered the old minister. 'Non-sense, wife! She's a young girl model!'"

Appreciation of Reporters.

I have always had great sympathy for newspaper reporters, a class of men generally about equally feared and criticized. During a large part of my life since my graduation I have been brought in constant contact with the men of this profession. Only on rare occasions have I suffered at their hands serious injustice, due either to deliberate intent or to gross misunderstanding. I have generally found them courteous and considerate, honestly desirous of getting the truth and reporting it accurately.—Lyman Abbott in the Outlook.

Surely in Hard Straits.

A Chicago man who has a son at Cornell took occasion while on the way home from New York to stop off for the purpose of seeing how the boy was getting along. It happened to be just after the Cornell football team, which had undergone many humiliations that season, had been beaten by Colgate. "How are things going with the football team?" the father asked, pretending to be seeking information. "The Cornell football team!" the young man exclaimed with all the disgust that he could put into his tones; "it has been beaten by everything except the Colonial Dames!"

LI L ARTHA NOT YET A SOLDIER

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The French government has not yet accepted Jack Johnson's offer to utilize his fighting ability in the army. The American pugilist, now a French citizen, has repeatedly tried to enlist. As he has only taken out preliminary citizenship papers, he is ineligible and he cannot come into the army as an American because the war office has announced that for the present no "foreign legion" will be accepted. Johnson, whose popularity was waning with the French population, finds himself suddenly a popular idol. He turned over to the army all his automobiles, before the government took steps to requisition all motor vehicles.

College Girls Independent.

An unusually large percentage of the young women of Oberlin college are dependent either entirely or in part upon their own resources for their college education. A recent questionnaire answered by 325 women in the College of Arts and Sciences reveals some interesting facts. Of 80 women practically self-supporting seven are working for all of their room and board; 37 of the 80 have borrowed money; 36 of the 80 are earning money while studying; 67 are using or have used money earned and saved. The industries reported are: School teaching, 40; housework, 18; office work, 11; nursing, ten; tutoring, eight; nursemaid, seven; miscellaneous work, as companion, music teacher, artist, clerk, market gardener, library assistant, post office assistant, playground assistant and seamstress.

Bungalow as a Prison.

At Camp Hill prison seven two-room bungalows are being built for the accommodation of prisoners whose characters are apparently improving under preventive detention. In each bungalow there will be a living room and a bedroom. The new buildings will be surrounded by a high boundary wall, but the prisoners occupying them will have more license and privileges than before.—London Chronicle.

Very Dangerous.

Friend—"Why, Elvira, what's the matter?" Elvira—"Oh, I don't know, only I'm worried to death! I've had the same girl six weeks and she doesn't talk about leaving yet!" Friend—"She doesn't?" Elvira—"Not a word! She must be in love with my husband!"

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Following an early depression, based on lower cables from Liverpool, wheat prices were carried upwards by wild rumors of a great British naval victory. The trade took the view that if this were true the Atlantic would speedily be swept clear of German war ships and the exportation of American grain would proceed to England without serious obstacles. The report was denied, but at noon, wheat showed a gain of 1-4c for Sept. and 1-4 for December based largely on this war story.

Corn advanced 3-4 to 7-8c at the start and had further gain of 3-8c in the forenoon, after a temporary setback. Higher cable prices, hot weather and light speculative offerings were the bull factors.

Trading was heavy in the oats pit today. Prices were 1-4 to 3-8c higher at the start on the advance in corn and made additional gain of 3-4c in the forenoon for the same reason.

Provisions advanced sharply at the start and climbed steadily all morning. Hog prices were 25 cents higher and the cable quoted provisions higher.

Light trading characterized the afternoon movements in the wheat pit and prices for wheat futures shaded off. Corn was a shade easier and oats closed at about noon prices.

Provisions eased off a trifle in the afternoon.

HONOR SYSTEM AMONG PRISONERS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 7.—The employment of prisoners on road construction is proving a success, according to Ralph E. Smith, president of the state board of control. Two camps of prisoners are now engaged in road work. One of thirty-seven men is constructing a road from Chester to Waupun and a second camp of twenty men is working at Taxcheedah, where the new women's reformatory is to be erected.

Under a ruling made by the state board of control yesterday the prisoners employed in road work receive 36 cents a day which is to be placed to their credit for the use of their families or those dependent upon them.

The prisoners are not taken back to the penitentiary at night, but are kept in tents on the site of the work.

The reason a woman knows her husband would use bad taste if he selected her clothes is because she can go out and buy him a necktie that looks and sounds like an Apache massacre.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it dardens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

COUNTY SOCIETIES HOLD CONVENTION

Young People Meet at Rushford and Lay Plans For Permanent Organization

RUSHFORD, Minn., Aug. 7.—Sunday, August 2, was a red letter day in the annals of the Rushford Lutheran church, a convention being held there of the different Young Peoples' societies in the Fillmore county district. Twelve congregations were represented at this convention, five different choirs sang, singly and together, and five different speakers were heard. A record breaking congregation was assembled at the day's services, morning, afternoon and evening.

Prof. Wesvig of the United Lutheran Church Seminary at St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, spoke in the morning at 10:30. This gentleman is a very earnest and forcible speaker and his sermon gave full evidence of a mastery of the subject.

Rev. Rasmussen of Harmony gave the afternoon address and made a good impression upon his audience. The evening's address was given by Prof. Wesvig, who took neither stated text nor subject, but spoke from a wide range of subjects. Rev. Engh of Ostrander also gave a brief address in the afternoon, in the Norwegian language.

After the afternoon service was concluded, a brief business meeting was held for the benefit of the different Young Peoples' societies represented. At this meeting, at which Rev. H. E. Rasmussen was chosen chairman, it was decided that he should appoint two committees, one of which should prepare a program for a district convention to be held some time in the coming summer, the other committee to draw up a constitution to be presented at that convention. This constitution should provide for a permanent organization of all Lutheran Young Peoples' societies in the Fillmore county district in one union, for the further promotion of the work in the church.

All delegates and strangers in the city during the Sunday convention were entertained at the different homes in Rushford.

Halvorson Funeral Tuesday

The funeral services of the late Henry Halvorson, who died last Thursday at the La Crosse Lutheran hospital of typhoid fever, was held on Tuesday afternoon of this week, from the Rushford Lutheran church and interment made in the Lutheran cemetery, west of this city.

Mr. Moen, the hustling merchant of Peterson, was down to our city last Sunday.

At the ball game played here last Sunday between Preston and Rushford, the local boys won by the score of 4 to 1.

Improve Street

General improvements are marking Jessie street, in this city, new cement gutters being built from the corner by the Motor Scales company garage to the corner of Warner

Blanchfield's barber shop. A new awning also graces the front of Miss Poorman's City Bakery, on the same street.

The entire city and surrounding country is in great need of rain, as gardens and fields are dry as powder. The threshers would not care for wet weather, as that would retard their work. Stacking is also in full blast.

PROMINENT MAN JOINS STATION STAFF

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 7.—Two appointments of special interest to Wisconsin farmers were made at the meetings of the University regents just held here.

J. F. Wolja of Menominee, Mich., was made superintendent of agricultural extension courses and Fred Scribner of Rosendale was appointed field man for the livestock department.

Among the phases of dairy farming Mr. Scribner will take up in his courses during the coming winter are community breeders' associations, herd improvement and dairy farm management.

What It Costs to Be Artistic.

It isn't wealthy men who are idle, but wealth itself, which is permanently loafing. Every year hundreds of millions of cash go into retirement for all time. One battleship lays on the shelf $15,000,000 of good money and it stays there. Germany's extra army measures for a year put $250,000 out of business for good. New York city's debt is increasing at the rate of $65,000,000 a year. Nearly all of that money is expended upon non-productive work. Monuments, boulevards and works of art, such as $500,000 in pictures, each year cost the world about as much as the world digs gold out of the earth. These are idlers who never earn any direct interest on the investment. America's wheat crop for one year isn't half big enough to compensate for the wealth that will be poured into nonproductive works.

Australian "Squatters" Exclusive.

In this country the term "squatter" carries anything but an implication of dignity. It suggests the interloper, the fellow who is getting the use of land to which he holds no legitimate title. But, in Australia, it has a vastly different significance. The landed gentry of the great antipodean continent are called squatters. They are the descendants of the original pioneers. They own the great sheep ranges of the interior and the vast cattle grazing areas which are called sheep or cattle "stations," as the case may be. The Squatters' club of the beautiful city of Melbourne is the most exclusive club in the whole commonwealth.

U. S. HOLDS LINER IN BAR HARBOR

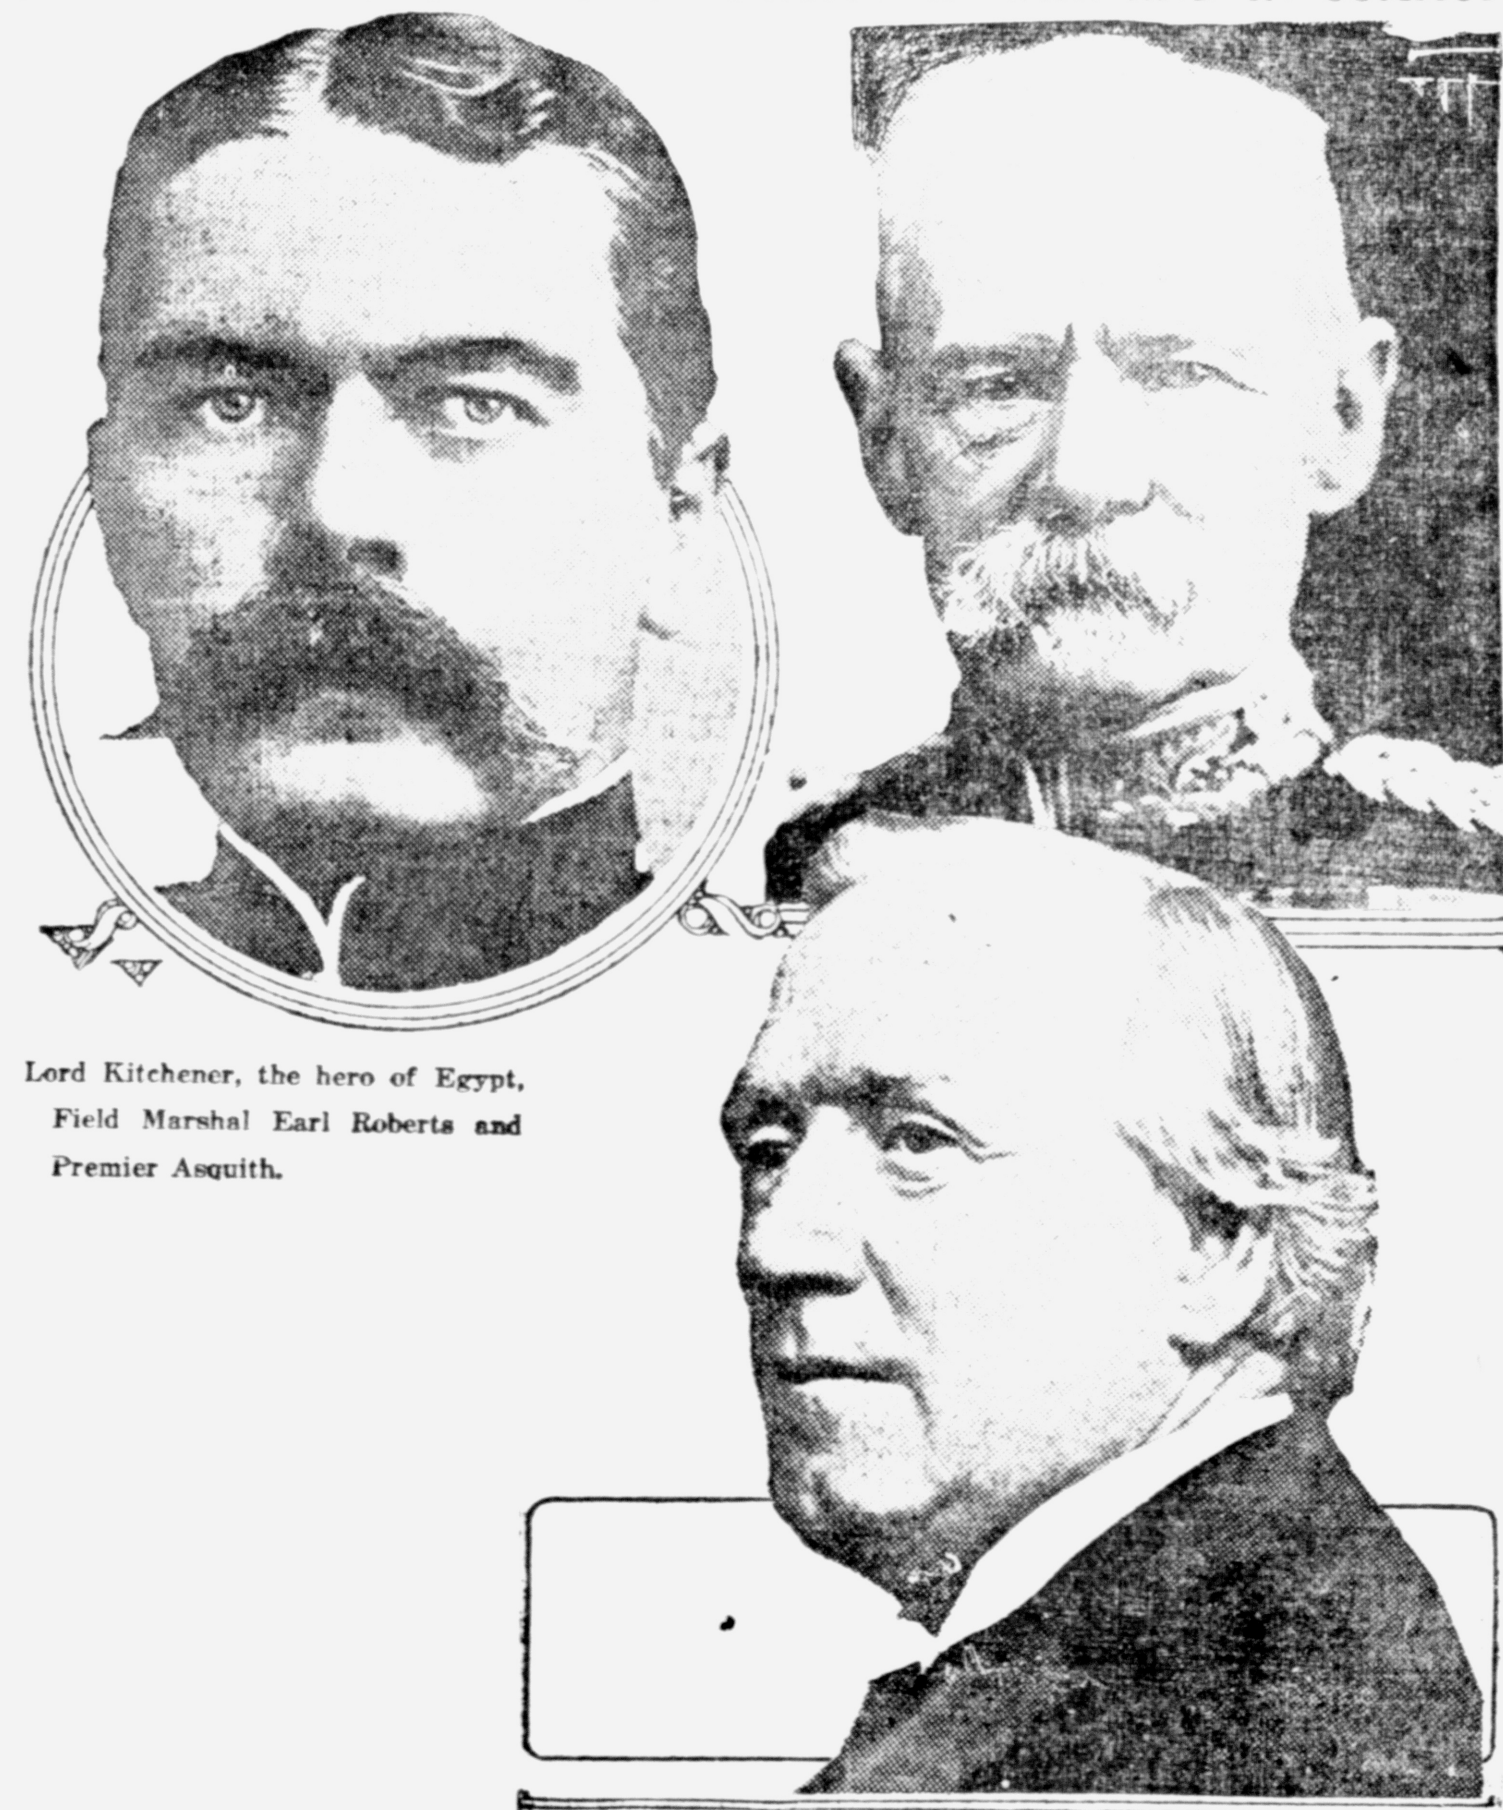

BAR HARBOR, Maine, Aug. 7.—The treasure ship Kronprinzessin Cecilie will be forced to remain in port here until the end of the war. The United States torpedo destroyer Warrington and the revenue cutter Androscoggin were anchored off Bar Harbor today, and have the North German Lloyd liner bottled up in accordance with the neutrality orders issued by President Wilson.

Captain Pollack today said he had no sailing orders and as the Kronprinzessin is a part of the German naval reserves it is expected to be held at Bar Harbor.

The Deadliest Diseases.

Tuberculosis of the lungs, commonly called consumption, still bears the unenviable palm as a destroyer of the human race or of that portion of it that is found in the United States. A close second to tuberculosis comes pneumonia, then the various forms of stomach troubles, with cancer following hard after them all. Heart disease ranks well up with the above mentioned maladies, while Bright's disease and diabetes are responsible for the deaths of thousands.—New York American.
